STAT

Thank you very much for your letter of 13 January expressing interest in possible civilian employment with this Agency following your retirement.

We have explored the possibilities of utilizing your services, but, unfortunately, no specific need exists at this time for a person with your professional experience, nor is there any such requirement in the foreseeable future.

The emphasis in our employment program has been on the development of a career service based upon the selective recruitment of exceptional young men and women and a continuing program of internal development and competitive advancement. Most of our vacancies beyond the trainee level are accordingly filled by reassignment and advancement within the ranks of career employees. Only occasionally are there vacancies or new positions requiring specialized skills or experience not to be found among our career employees. It is difficult to anticipate whether or not an opening might develop in the months before your retirement, but our best estimate of the situation at present is that it would be most unlikely.

I certainly appreciated your getting in touch with me and your offer to be of service.
